

Chalet Fontanet Verbier, Switzerland

What we love...

We love the addition of a billiard room, for some healthy off-the-slopes competition. The amazing mountain view from the main living area is also worth shouting about.

Housed within Chalet Sagittaire in Verbier along the prestigious Chemin des Vernes, Fontanet is the largest of the chalet's three luxurious apartments. Spread across the middle two floors of the building, its top floor is where you'll find the big mountain vistas, with large panoramic windows defining the spacious living area, inviting plenty of light in to the cosy living area.

Upon arrival, you'll probably want to dive straight onto one of the deep sofas in front of the open fire. This is bound to be where you spend lots of your time at Fontanet, but there's plenty more to do besides, including limitless games of billiards in the room next door.

Then there's the TV snug – bound to be a favourite with children – complete with extensive DVD collection. Fontanet's residents also have the benefit of access to the shared indoor swimming pool (shared only with the chalet's 2 other apartments), and spa with hammam, massage room and gym.

The bedrooms here will also be hard to leave once you're in, with soft animal faux-furs strewn across the deep sprung beds, and luxury toiletries in the bathrooms. Most rooms also have access to the terrace for a bit of late-night stargazing. And children will love the triple bunk room.

Kids

Kids will go crazy for the triple bunk room in Chalet Fontanet, with each bed built into the chunky wood surrounds – perfect for snuggling up for a film, and muffled giggling long after bedtime.

With a Wii console at their disposal, and numerous DVDs to watch, they're unlikely to get bored, but for those who want to venture elsewhere, sledges can be arranged for outdoor fun, whilst the fabulous shared pool is just an elevator ride away.
