

Chalet Lapin Blanc

Meribel, France

What we love...

We love the layout of the amazing living area, with huge central fireplace, double-height ceiling and sweeping mezzanine. And the great views. And the ski-in/ski-out convenience. Every box ticked.

As freestanding chalets go, Lapin Blanc is one of the finest in Méribel. Situated at the bottom of the Georges Mauduit piste, its location alone is worth every penny, with fabulous views of the mountains, ski-in/ski-out access and an easy walk to the village.

Spread across 4 floors and sleeping up to 14 adults and 1 child, Chalet Lapin Blanc is a sprawling, decadent space. The enormous living area is made even more impressive by its double height, owing to the grand mezzanine that curves around the top of the property. A large stone and glass fireplace is marooned in the middle for maximum effect, while daylight streams in through the huge picture windows that lead onto a south-facing terrace. Wow-factor is not in short supply here.

Crafted from local wood and stone for the classic rustic chalet style, the property also oozes contemporary chic, with striking dark slate bathrooms and an elegant combination of colour and texture in the soft furnishings.

With ample sofas to plunge into, and gorgeous king-size bedrooms for afternoon snoozes, you could become very lazy here. But with an outdoor hot tub to dip into, a sauna and cinema/games room, you won't be on the sofa for too long.

Eating

With such a great living area to relax in, dining here is a pleasure – especially when you have a private chef on hand to prepare amazing food all week. Each day starts with a huge and varied breakfast to set you up for skiing; and when you come home you'll find a freshly prepared afternoon tea waiting for you.

The evening starts with champagne and canapés – on the balcony if the weather is clement, or served around the roaring fire. This will be swiftly followed by a gourmet feast, tailored to your group and served at a time that suits, just in case you want to spend a little longer soaking up Méribel's lively après-ski scene.

If you're on holiday with children, the chef will happily prepare high tea, or serve up a family meal – it's up to you. Very little ones can also be catered for, and any special dietary requirements too.
