

Chalet Tomkins Meribel, France

What we love...

We love the outdoor hot tub, made all the more cosy for being perched on a heated deck.

Understated glamour is what it's all about at Chalet Tomkins. This luxury self-catered ski chalet in Meribel has a highly exclusive address – one of the first in the town, in fact – but it doesn't like to shout about it.

A palette of slate greys and creams, with occasional bursts of colour, creates a cocooning feel with an element of fun and makes this a great property for several families to share. The vaulted living room with imposing fireplace and a pretty chaise is the ideal spot to relax and enjoy afternoon tea and pre-dinner drinks after your morning's skiing. It is possible to ski back to the chalet during most of the season (snow permitting) so as soon as your stomach tells you it's time to refuel you can be home in a jiffy.

As well as the spacious living room there is also an entertainment floor with billiards and games room where the kids can play (and adults can hang out with a drink and a billiards cue, pretending they're in a real-life Cluedo game).

Adjacent is the sauna and massage room, so after you've climbed out of your ski gear, you can head straight there to warm up and ease muscles. And before you go upstairs to join your fellow guests, why not pop into the wine cave to have a browse through the bottles you'll be enjoying with dinner?

Then it's off to bed. Each of the luxury en-suite bedrooms is decked out beautifully with luxury linens, bathrobes, slippers hairdryers and anything else you could need to make your own little home from home.
