

El Huerto del Baron Marbella, Spain

What we love...

We love taking a dip in the outdoor pool with the last of the afternoon sun on it.

A little haven of luxury between the mountains and the sea, Villa El Huerto del Baron is idyllically located, beautifully designed and ready and waiting for you to walk through the door, pour yourself a drink and step out of your shoes onto the cool marble floors.

The whitewashed and terracotta villa is as Andalusian as Pablo Picasso and flamenco dancing, and inside, a contemporary classic style creates a sense of calm.

Five beautifully designed ensuite bedrooms all have Sky TV and top-of-the-range sound systems. The master bedroom has its own stunning terrace, ideal for a peaceful breakfast or even throwing a party!

Air-conditioned living spaces and cool marble floors provide plenty of relief should you ever tire of the heat of the Spanish sun. However, in the evening in particular, there's no more lovely place to sit than at the outdoor dining table with a glass of wine, watching the sun set.

The villa is nestled in a peaceful spot, yet is within easy reach of the centre of town, so there's plenty to do on your doorstep, and if you've come here simply for the rest and relaxation, you'll find it in spades at the villa. Sit in the sauna, take a dip in the glorious outdoor pool or settle yourself with a book under a shady fruit tree in 'the baron's orchard' that the villa is named for. We're not sure who the baron is either but if he's going to join you there, he'll hopefully bring you out another cocktail while he's about it.
