

Grand Presidential Spa Villa Zakynthos, Greece

What we love...

We love being able to simply nip through the private gate down to the water's edge and enjoy the privacy of your own stretch of sand.

This is a property that is all about the location. A panoramic glass front, curving gently towards the sea affords the Grand Presidential Spa villa bags of privacy as well as a stunning view, taking in the island of Kefalonia and also Kyllini castle. The luxury villa on the Greek island of Zakynthos is set within the grounds of the upmarket award-winning Porto Zante estate, offering all the convenience of a high-class hotel with the seclusion and quiet of your own villa.

Inside, careful thought has been given to ensuring all the little luxuries are there, from a top-of-the-range sound system to fluffy bathrobes to a games console to keep children busy. But the real icing on the cake is the outdoor living spaces. The villa has its own beautifully designed garden and on the deck between the villa and the beach, outdoor living and dining areas are set up, so you can live as much outside here as you wish. There's even an open air shower. With a view as stunning as this one, it makes sense not to waste a moment of it.

And when you want to relax even more there is the fantastic waterfront spa, situated right above the water with views across the Ionian sea. With over 20 signature therapies to be tried whilst in the spa's luxurious and relaxing environment, you may end up booking in every day.

Kids

Children are well looked after here. The Porto Zante resort offers lots of supervised activities to enable parents to enjoy a bit of time alone. There's also a playground within the grounds. But the little details are taken care of here, too... dedicated dining menus, bath toys in the bathrooms, and, for older children, a playstation 4 to keep them amused while the adults chat over dinner.

This luxury villa is on the beachfront, which makes holidaying with young children much easier as you know they are close by at all times. Little ones will also enjoy making waves in the heated pool.

Babysitters are available upon request.

Location

The villa is located within the exclusive resort of Porto Zante on the Greek island of Zakynthos, just off the western coast of the mainland. It's 15 minutes' drive to the main town and harbour.
