

Villa Galilaia

Barbados, Caribbean

What we love...

We love the freeform pool with its own island.

The very best of nature's own work and manmade luxury combine here to create a villa that is the last word in tropical decadence.

Villa Galilaia is a luxury villa in Barbados set within 11 acres of prime beachfront, with direct access to two sandy bays.

The large range of equipment available, including a SunFish sailboat, kayaks and stand-up paddleboards, allow you to make the most of this luxury villa's fabulous location, and when you're not out in the thick of it, you can enjoy it simply by relaxing on the terraces with a drink and taking in that stunning ocean view.

Mongolian temple doors at the entrance set the tone throughout – carved teak doors and windows offering rich contrast to the off-white walls. The house has a simple décor – with stunning views from bedrooms and indoor living areas.

Outside, teak walkways lead you over koi carp and all around the lush, tropical gardens. The highlight of the outdoor areas must be the freeform pool, complete with its own mini island with coconut trees – fabulously relaxing and decadent! There are also floodlit tennis courts so you can play long into the evening, as well as table tennis to keep you all busy outdoors.

And this luxury villa is just as well equipped inside, too. Should the weather turn, pack the kids off to the jungle gym in the children's wing to run, climb and bounce off their energy, while you retire to the private cinema room for popcorn and a film, or perhaps head back to your luxury bedroom to enjoy a pampering massage while you gaze out to sea.

It would be no exaggeration to say that this villa is a tiny piece of paradise.
