

Moskito Island British Virgin Islands, Caribbean

What we love...

We love the fabulous facilities here – whether you want an adventure-packed holiday or a pampering retreat, Moskito Island makes it happen.

Welcome to paradise! You can't get much further away from the daily grind than in a luxury villa on a private island in the Caribbean.

Moskito Island is an exclusive estate comprising three villas, luxury entertainment and living spaces, created by Sir Richard Branson as a family getaway in the style of his famous Necker Island. When the Bransons aren't in residence on this Caribbean island, it's available for hire, so others can enjoy a really welcoming family home with all the luxuries and high standards of service you would find in a world-class hotel.

The three luxury villas, two with discrete guest houses, are each individually decorated in a coastal New England style, with dark woods and white soft furnishings standing out crisply against the backdrop of the azure sea. The Caribbean is ever-present here. The luxury villas have been designed to maximise the views with huge windows and doors that open right back and bring the sea right to you. Each has its own swimming pool and spacious, cool living areas where everything has been carefully considered for your ultimate comfort and relaxation – from sound systems to luxury furnishings, pool bars to temperature controlled wine fridges. And if there's anything they've not thought of you only have to ask whilst on your luxury villa holiday. Dedicated staff are always on hand to help with whatever you need.

On the eastern side of the island is the shared recreation area where you can take part in a wide range of activities at the tennis pavilion, watersports centre, infinity pool with bar and the Beach House with bar, as well as several lounge areas on your luxury villa holiday. There are also three dining pavilions where you will gather together for wonderful alfresco meals created by your talented chef – one is on the beachfront, another near the salt pond and a third on the waterfront, so there's always a new view to admire over your meal on this luxury Caribbean island. Don't forget to pop back to the hot tub at the swimming pool with your after-dinner drinks – it's best enjoyed by starlight!

While there are a whole range of activities and adventures to take part in on your luxury villa holiday, from snorkelling to sailing, kayaking to kite-surfing, or hiking across the 125 acres of paradise...pampering and relaxation are also taken very seriously here. If a few hours reclined on a swing bed looking out to sea isn't quite enough, you might like to enjoy a spa treatment from the staff at Necker Island who are always pleased to pop across the water and soothe away every last stress on your luxury villa holiday.
