

Villa Maxine

Beauvallon, Saint Tropez

What we love...

We love the villa's position, overlooking the blue waters of the bay of Saint Tropez and the port itself.

A location as glamorously laid-back as Beauvallon demands a property to match and this luxury villa ticks all the boxes and then some. Tucked away in a secluded private development within parklands, Villa Maxine is perfectly secluded and quiet, but enjoys wonderful views of the sea and is just a short drive from the glitz and bustle of Saint Tropez.

Inside the villa, a sophisticated and modern Provencal design is accentuated by the light and airy interiors. A palette of whites and neutrals is the restful backdrop for natural materials, rustic driftwoods and stone, and huge floor-to-ceiling windows and mirrors that let the light flood in and bounce it around. Throw open those windows and you can hear the sea and enjoy the salty breeze floating into the room bringing with it a feeling of total peace.

There are many areas in which to lounge with a book and a glass of wine, or gather with friends to enjoy all this, but it must be said the jewel in this property's crown is its outdoor spaces. Great care has been taken to create as many outdoor rooms as possible so that you can virtually live outside here. The property has beautifully manicured gardens and, set within 3,500sq m of parkland, there's always somewhere to take a relaxing stroll. There's a warm sun terrace with beds where you can soak up the sunshine with a book and a cool drink, and numerous outdoor seating and dining areas dotted all around the gardens.

The outdoor swimming pool is big enough for everyone to take a dip and swim a few lengths, and just steps away there's a sunny dining area where you can dry off with a coffee, as well as a shaded pool house complete with sofas and tables for enjoying a drink - plus plenty of fluffy towels and even a small fireplace for lighting up the evenings poolside.

The villa's staff are unobtrusive, almost invisible, but always there when a drink needs refreshing or a towel fetching. A Michelin chef will ensure you are always well looked after, whether you're enjoying breakfast in the sun by the pool, sundowners on the terrace or a gourmet dinner by candlelight in the chic dining area. You'll finish every day well fed and ready to retreat to cool bedrooms, luxury cotton sheets and the sound of the waves in the distance as you drift off to sleep.

Eating

Food and drink are an important part of life here at Villa Maxine and to that end, a private Michelin chef is on hand six days a week to prepare breakfast, lunch and dinner for you. Champagne and canapés are served on your arrival to start your holiday on the right note.

A cooked breakfast is prepared each morning, to tempt you from your bed with the aroma of eggs benedict, bacon and pancakes and more. Lunches are usually an alfresco affair with a delicious spread of dishes laid out for you to enjoy in the sunshine. In the evenings, you'll begin with drinks and canapés followed by a four-course gastronomic feast and local cheeses. Your chef will be happy to discuss menus with you beforehand to ensure everyone in your party is well catered for.

The villa comes stocked with fridges for drinks and nibbles should you want to graze during the day, as well as a fully stocked cellar of award-winning local wines. Complimentary wine is served with dinner. There's a further list of alcoholic and other beverages available to choose from if you have a particular favourite tippie, too.

Kids

This luxury family-friendly villa is a brilliant choice for those travelling with children.

Children of all ages will love the swimming pool and the pool house means there's always a shady spot for them to sit in and take a breather in the heat of the day. There's also 3,500sq m of parklands for them to run around - children can easily spend all day outdoors here and go home brown as berries.

Inside, the villa is spacious and airy with plenty of room to play and two twin bedrooms, ideal for children to stay in. High chairs and cots can be provided for younger guests if required.

Your chef will be happy to arrange menus to suit younger palates and childcare can be arranged on request.
