

Kalesma Artemis Villa

Mykonos

What we love...

We love the contrast between the traditional Greek whitewashed exterior - compete with rounded walls and a flat roof - and the villa's stylish, modern interior.

Offering sensational sunset views stretching as far as the island of Delos, Kalesma Artemis Villa set in the south west of Mykonos is the ideal setting for anyone wanting to enjoy the very best that Greece has to offer.

The villa's whitewashed exterior, flat roof and rounded walls are typical of the region's iconic Cycladic architecture, and the building blends perfectly into the lush hillside, surrounded by olive trees and local fauna that match the vibrancy of the brilliant blue sea below. From the heated infinity pool, you can enjoy the mesmerising views and tranquil setting in the typically warm Greek sunshine.

Inside, the juxtaposition of traditional and contemporary is clearly and beautifully executed. In the main living space, stone floors and exposed wooden beams contrast the modern concrete kitchen and stylish cream sofas, while in the bedrooms, a soft, bohemian feel is achieved through rattan furniture, plush white bedding and a neutral colour scheme.

Every detail has been carefully considered here and the luxurious villa is full of hidden little surprises, such as a well-kitted out gym room, a dedicated wine fridge, inviting bed-style sun loungers and a shaded al fresco lounge area. Taking pride of place within the grounds of the Kalesma hotel, you won't have to wander far to enjoy all the amenities of the 5* boutique hotel, from the striking Aloni Sunset Lounge, delicious dining at Pere Ubu restaurant and the traditionally quaint chapel. Kalesma means 'invitation' in Greece, and it goes without saying your invitation to Villa Artemis eagerly awaits your acceptance.

Eating

Dining at Kalesma Artemis Villa is a real pleasure. Start the experience in the stylish open-plan kitchen, cooking and chatting over a glass of something cold from the fridge, while others mingle around you. When the food is done, head outside to the al fresco dining area to enjoy the fruits of your labour with spectacular sea views.

There are several secluded spots around the villa to enjoy a sundowner drink or peaceful spot of lunch in the sun, or equally there is plenty of space for everyone to come together at mealtimes. For a special treat, the Kalesma Hotel can even arrange for one of their chefs to come in and prepare a private in-villa dining experience for you.

Since the villa is part of a hotel, you will also have butler service on request and access to Kalesma's main restaurant, Pere Ubu.

This Mediterranean restaurant serves a range of mezze and larger dishes with a relaxed ambience. Accompanying your meal are sunrise or sunset views, depending on the time of day you dine, due to the enviable east-west axis on which it is set. The hotel also has a pool bar and a stylish sunset lounge, complete with fire pit for drinking late night cocktails around.

Kids

If you have water babies who love to spend their holidays splashing in the pool, then they will be perfectly happy at Kalesma. Mum and Dad can choose to join in the fun or relax in the sun on the pool side lounge beds and keep watch.

In the evenings, older kids might like to amuse themselves on the villa's lower level, where the twin bedroom with TV can be a true kid's den.

For those travelling with youngsters, the hotel can arrange babysitting services on request – so parents can perhaps go and enjoy some of Mykonos' famously good nightlife.

Location

Kalesma Artemis Villa is a 10 minute drive from Mykonos airport and a 10 minute drive from Mykonos town.

Kalesma has a sublime all-day restaurant and bar, both within a short walk of the villa.

There is plenty to see and do in the area and the hotel staff can help recommend and arrange beach trips, boat tours, shopping and local restaurants or bars.
